Over time, Adobe Photoshop has evolved a wide range of tools to make photo editing easier. And while you are continuously creating new content for your client, the tools make that process easier and more effective. One of the most common photo editing tasks is retouching, where we subtract unwanted elements and color correct colors in the photos. The most common problems are blemishes, red-eye (where the camera flash catches your eyes), and scratches. There is very little we cannot do with a smartphone. If you are looking for a way to publish your ideas with the help of designs and without the professional expertise, awesome Facebook live presentations can be a great alternative. The live presentation tool is a graphical editor that enables any web actor, influencer, or community manager to create, share, and broadcast live on Facebook. This is a full-featured presentation tool. You can import background images and type to your live presentations. More importantly, you can add slides, videos, and playlists to your live presentation. Once your presentation is live, you can share it easily by uploading a URL on your Facebook page or clicking on your name on a URL to live broadcast your presentation. Most desktop publishing software is equipped with the ability to import and convert JPG, TIFF, GIF, TGA, PDF, EPS, PNG, and HDRi to and from PDF. This is a common way to provide a finished appearance as cropping, resizing, and optimizing an image can become tedious. However, when working with images on a mobile device, these extensions can be necessary to be able to crop, resize, and otherwise edit your image.
